The NSW Government is upgrading Cremorne Point Wharf as part of the Transport Access Program. It is expected work will start in the last quarter of 2014 and construction will take about five months. Cremorne Point Wharf will be closed during this period.

The NSW Government is progressively upgrading ferry wharves across Sydney Harbour to improve Sydney's ferry service for customers. The new wharf is being delivered as part of the NSW Government's $770 million Transport Access Program – an initiative to deliver modern, safe and accessible transport infrastructure. The Transport Access Program has already delivered new facilities at Milsons Point, Neutral Bay, Rose Bay, Balmain Thames Street and Huntleys Point. Mosman Bay and Drummoyne wharves are currently under construction.

Background
The new Cremorne Point Wharf

The new wharf will include a steel floating pontoon, a covered concrete fixed entry platform and a covered aluminium gangway connecting the entry platform to the pontoon. The pontoon will have a curved roof, glass panels and new seating offering some protection from the weather and improved amenity.

The new wharf will provide:

- Better protection from the wind, rain and sun
- Improved safety for customers
- Improved access for mobility impaired customers and customers with prams
- Quicker and more efficient boarding and disembarking.
What to expect during the upgrade

The exact construction start date for the Cremorne Point Wharf upgrade is still to be finalised, however it is expected to start in the last quarter of 2014.

We will notify customers, local residents, local businesses and stakeholders in advance of the temporary closure of Cremorne Point Wharf.

Construction will take about five months to complete, weather and maritime conditions permitting. The existing wharf will be closed during construction to enable work to be carried out. All efforts will be made by the project team to reopen the wharf as soon as possible.

A temporary construction compound will be established on land near the existing wharf. The standard work hours will be 7am to 6pm Monday to Friday and 8am to 1pm Saturday. Some of this work will be noisy.

Some early morning or night work, including the installation of piles, may be required when the water is at its calmest. This will generate noise. We will notify nearby residents prior to any early morning or night work taking place.

Equipment will include barges, cranes and service boats. Construction workers and equipment will usually be transported to and from the site by water to minimise impacts on local traffic.
